Definition:

Pulsoximeter Probe Fixing Tape

Field of Use:

It is manufactured for intensive care service.

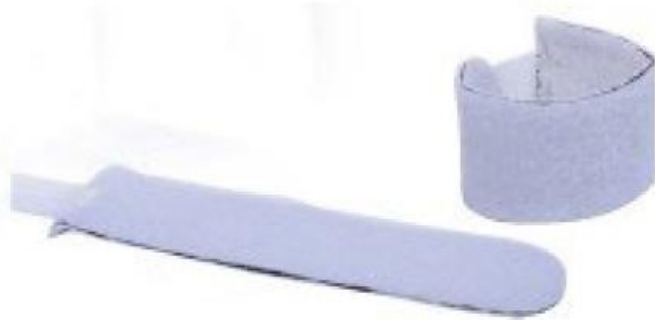

It is used for safely fixing the pulsoximeter probe to the finger.

Function:

When the tape is wrapped around the finger and tightened, it prevents the probe from sliding with the pressure it makes.

Technical Specifications:

It has the appearance of a ribbon.

At one end of the tape there is a fixing accessory made of velcro*, which allows the tape to be fixed when it is wrapped around the finger.

The tape consists of 3 layers laminated to each other.

The top layer consists of a chardonnayed(feathered) fabric.

These hairs allow the velcro fastening apparatus to secure the tape safely. There is a sponge layer in the middle part that provides softness to the tape.

The lowest layer of the band that comes into contact with the skin is made of cotton fabric.

The product is disposable and non-sterile.

Velcro*: A special fabric -velcro fabric that is used instead of a snap or button,has micro-level plastic hooks on it and adheres to furry surfaces with these micro hooks).

Laminating:(Lamination) The process of gluing different materials together under heat or with the support of adhesive substances using special methods and apparatus and making them into one piece). Chardoning : Combing, combing the surfaces of cotton or synthetic fabrics with a special method the feathering process is a fabric that has been made soft and velvety or terry-like by feathering one surface, while the chardonnayed fabric is a fabric that has been made soft and velvety or terry-like.
